Laminex

For over 70 years, The Laminex Group has been the leading marketer, distributor and manufacturer of fashionable surface solutions and raw wood panels. Market leading brands include Laminex[®], Formica[®] and essa stone[™].

Laminex is leading the way in interior surfaces, with today's design directions being inspired from trends across the globe. Practical without compromising on style, our products represent the very latest in international design trends.

From a tendency towards 'safe' colours and designs, Australians are now growing in their confidence to experiment with colour and design through the use of paint, laminate, engineered stone and other materials.

Laminex is continually providing the best solutions for all interior spaces, and moving forward, their designs and decors will continue to set a benchmark for quality and style.
